

Copying from New Zealand newspapers

Information for University staff

The Licence to Copy from Print Media Publications

Under the terms of a copyright agreement with the Print Media Copyright Agency (PMCA), staff in New Zealand universities are permitted to copy articles from New Zealand newspapers and weeklies for educational purposes beyond the limitations set by the Copyright Act 1994.

You are...

Covered by the Licence if you are an academic or general staff member of the University. Other persons may be covered on a case-by-case basis if you, as a staff member, have authorised them to copy articles for your University's educational purposes.

You may...

- Copy articles, including artistic works published in conjunction with the article, from the publications listed below.
- Reproduce those articles in printed form by hard copy or electronically.
- Store those articles electronically or digitally.
- Use or communicate those articles to students enrolled at the University or staff of the University in any form, including by facsimile, CD/DVD, e-mail or a password protected network.
- Source those articles by electronic means or facsimile from a third party, including by library inter-loan.
- Offer those articles to visually impaired students in non-electronic, non-print perceptible form, such as audio or Braille.

You must...

- Use the articles copied under the Licence only for the educational purposes of the University.
- Copy no more than five articles from any single edition of a publication. A group of works where each of the works covers the same or essentially the same subject is treated as one article.
- Include a copyright warning notice when distributing or communicating any article(s) copied under the Licence, such as:

This material is protected by copyright and has been copied for the educational purposes of the University under licence. You may not sell, alter or further reproduce or distribute any part of this coursepack/material to any other person. Where provided to you in electronic format, you may only print from it for your own private study and research. Failure to comply with the terms of this warning may expose you to legal action for copyright infringement and/or disciplinary action by the University.

- Ensure that any other person you authorise to copy articles complies with the requirements of the Licence.
- Delete all electronically or digitally stored articles from PMCA publications if the University ceases to have a Licence from PMCA.

You may not...

- Copy by electronic or other means an entire edition of any of the publications listed below.
- Convert any article to searchable text by any means.
- Copy advertisements.
